

PROSOCIAL BEHAVIOR

Choo Chian Hou

Ahmad Azuan B. Abd Aziz

Hamidah bt. Hamdan

Pegah Athari

Atefeh Ahmadi

Lecturer: Assoc. Prof. Azizi Yahaya

WHY DO PEOPLE HELP?

HELPING: A NATURAL PHENOMENON OF NATURE

- Helping is only uniquely to the human species.
- Stevens, Cushman & Hauser (2005), listed a number of explanations for the cooperative behavior on either humans or animals. The explanations are as listed below:
 - 1) Mutualism – cooperative benefits everyone involved.
 - 2) Kin Selection – The one cooperating will definitely be inclined towards blood relatives.
 - 3) Reciprocity – “You scratch my back and I’ll scratch yours.”
 - 4) Sanctioning – The likeliness of cooperation to be made and cheating deterred will increase by taking action against defector.

